

I strongly oppose the proposed expansion of Low Power FM ("LPFM"). The expansion of LPFM stations to thereby give LPFM priority over stations using the current FM translator service does not serve the public interest. Expansion of LPFM would result in unique radio programming disappearing from the airwaves.

K-LOVE is a national radio station, which uses the FM translator service. K-LOVE is the ONLY radio station my entire family can enjoy together without the worry of hearing material inappropriate for children. K-LOVE is our only radio choice free from songs or DJs advocating some sort of violence or containing sexually-suggestive lyrics.

The airwaves are owned by the PUBLIC. Any action that results in a station like K-LOVE being pushed off the air, would reduce the choices offered to the public -- that is not in the public interest. Since the airwaves are owned by the public, do not ignore the segment of the public that shares my views.

The segment of the public that shares my views is large. This support is evidenced by the fact that K-LOVE is able to provide its service through private donations from across the country, not by selling advertising from a handful of business owners.

We do not need more radio stations offering programming found on virtually every other station. K-LOVE is unique, invaluable and irreplaceable to my family and millions of others across the county.

The proposed LPFM expansion is not in the public interest.
